

Hi! My name is Adam Smith and I'm the front end developer you want on your team.

I've got years of experience overcoming real world production issues and know what it takes to deliver a quality product, on time and on budget.

I'm looking for a company that respects the development process and wants to create well thought out experiences and products.

I keep my development knowledge up to date and quite enjoy the process.

- I'm efficient, prompt and I'm detail oriented.
- I'm good at communicating and time management.
- I know when to ask questions, and only need to ask them once.

I'd love to discuss any opportunities, so please get in touch.

Thanks,

Adam Smith

I've been building client projects for the internet for quite some time. I've managed teams and also contributed to projects as a team member.

I build from a mobile first frame of mind and like my code to be organized, clean and easy to consume. I've listed what I consider important to know and what I'm proficient at under each of the main components of front end development.

I'm also comfortable using Terminal, Git and Trello. Please get in touch for more in depth detail.
